

About the program

WHS Essentials for Public Sector Leaders

This program is designed to empower experienced staff and leaders working in the public sector context with the knowledge, skills, and mindset to champion safety in the workplace.

The workshop will be interactive and discussion based with activities designed to embed the concepts and allow for application to your own operating context.

Learning Outcomes:

- Understand their legal and ethical responsibilities under WHS legislation and Codes of Practice
- Understand the role of WHS Consultation – who & how
- Continue to build understanding of developing practical implementation of proactive WHS risk assessment processes
- Implementing appropriate incident investigation processes
- Understanding risks and particularly psychosocial risks

Through the activities and the case studies we aim to demonstrate how you can lead others to manage risk proactively and positively influence a safe workplace.

About ACIM Solutions

Our specialties

ACIM Solutions is a reputable Registered Training Organisation with a long history of working with organisations across Australia, particularly government and the emergency management sector.

Our nationally accredited scope focuses on investigation, compliance and emergency management programs at the Certificate IV, Diploma level and Advanced Diploma level. Our short course workshops complement these qualifications with a range of staff development options for those working in regulatory environments.

We also provide policy and procedure reviews, conduct independent debriefs and post incident processes following significant events.

Our team

The ACIM Solutions team come from a range of locations around Australia. They are all highly experienced and well-respected individuals in their area of expertise. The team takes pride in maintaining their industry currency and have the skills to transfer concepts and examples to a wide range of organisational settings.

From administration to learning support, our team works to encourage students in their training. We work with individuals and groups to help ensure everyone is included, adequately supported, and can be successful in their goals.

Our approach

For individual students undertaking qualifications we create customised learning plans that help recognise background experience and future goals. All individual students completing single units or qualifications self-paced are provided with 1-1 virtual tutorials to support their learning completion of assessments. We have a student support officer to ensure no-one is overlooked.

We meet with clients to contextualise all our organisational programs to ensure the content aligns with jurisdictional and organisational requirements. We are very flexible in the delivery format for programs to best suit the needs of the organisation and students.

All programs are designed with best practices for adult education, and we love to incorporate contemporary case studies, collaborative learning approaches and active learning strategies as much as possible.

Programs can be delivered face to face around Australia, virtually, self-paced or in a blended model of any of the these.
